Appendix

Joseph Kipling had farmed at Stackholm since at least 1807, when daughter Mary was born there. He was registered there for the general election of 1834.

LUNEDALE
Kipling, Joseph	. 60	Lunedale	Occupier of a farm	Stack Holm

Poll book 1834

He was the illegitimate son (b1779) of Sarah Kipling of Blackton in Baldersdale. A DNA test of a descendant of Joseph (via #16) has matched with 'Pinckney', the name of Sarah's mother's family (suggesting that an uncle or cousin might have been Joseph's father).

He had married Jane ('Jenny') Hilton in 1803 at Romaldkirk when he was living at Kelton, a little lower down Lunedale, where son John was born in 1804.
