

The 1911 'Rudyard' Kiplings

In the 1911 census, 11 households contained members of this group, descended from the John Kipling who married an Ann Sanderson at Loftus in 1764. Rudyard himself was not included, as on census night (2 April) he was in the middle of a motoring holiday in France. However, son John was recorded at boarding school in Sussex.

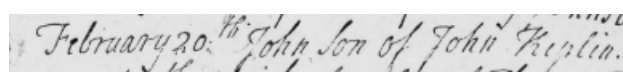

John Kipling married Ann Sanderson in Loftus in the North Riding of Yorkshire in 1764.

They had children Elizabeth (1765), Mary (1767), Ann (1770), John (1773), Robert (1776) and George (1779).

They then moved to the nearby parish of Lythe, where the parish register reports John and Ann having a daughter Jane (1787; d1790 aged 2). However, as Ann would appear to have been aged 60 or 61 at the time (see below), this seems infeasible (even 52 for George is extreme). Could Jane have been an illegitimate grand-daughter?

John senior, a labourer, died at Lythe in 1792 at the reported age of 62. Anne then married, Richard Bell, another labourer, in 1795. She died at Lythe, a widow twice over, in 1808 at the age of 82, Bell having died in 1804.

It is uncertain where Ann Sanderson came from, although she could possibly be the Johanna Sanderson born in Loftus in 1726, the daughter of Michael and Elizabeth Sanderson (nee Willis) who had married the previous year.

Of John's other children, Robert has not been traced, Mary married Robert Carter at Skelton in 1788, Ann married William Roe at Egton in 1789, Elizabeth married Robert Jackson in Lythe in 1793 and George married Mary Knaggs at Loftus in 1818.

Who was John Kipling? According to his reported age at death he would have been born in 1729 or 1730. No likely Johns were born in those years, but it is consistent with DNA evidence that he was the John Kipling born in Barningham in 1724, a probable married sister of whom also lived in Loftus.

The Second Generation

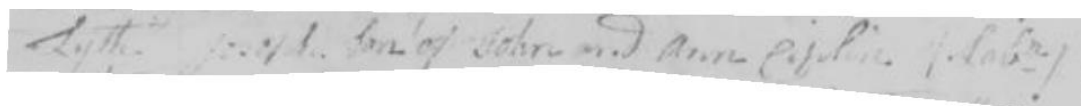

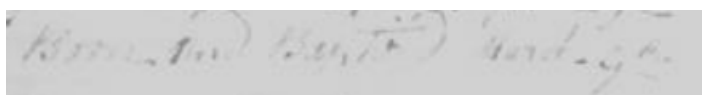

The Family of John Kipling (1773)

John Kipling married Ann Hansell in 1801 in Lythe.

A handwritten church record on aged paper, tilted slightly. The text reads: "John Kipling and Ann Hansell both of Lythe parish Married in Lythe church" followed by a date that appears to be "Nov 24th".

Their eldest son Joseph was born in 1805.

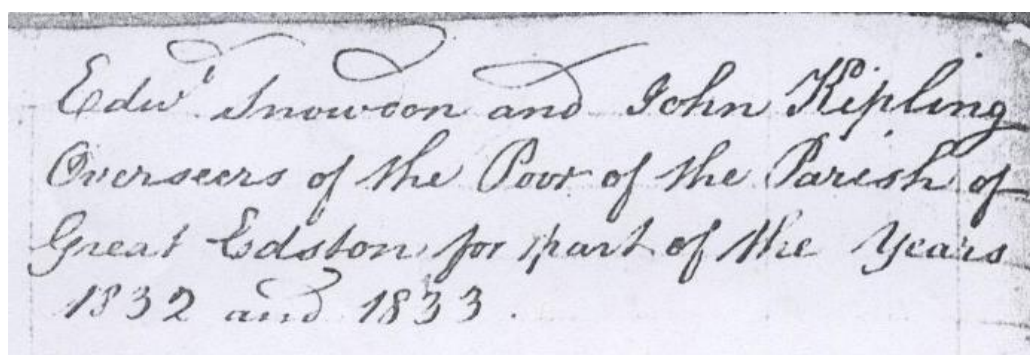

A handwritten church record on aged paper, tilted. The text reads: "Lythe Joseph son of John and Ann Kipling (labourer)".A handwritten church record on aged paper, tilted. The text is partially obscured but appears to read: "Born and baptised" followed by a date.

Lythe – bishop's transcript March 29 1805

Their second son, John, was born in 1807. They also had daughters Ann (1811), Jane (1814), Alice (1815) and Bessy (1819), all christened in Lythe, and a third son Robert (1809) who died aged 2 days.

John is initially described as a labourer, then as a farmer from the baptism of Robert in 1809 onwards. At the baptism of Bessy in 1819, he is described as being of Ugthorpe rather than Lythe.

In 1831, John Kipling sold some property in Lythe he owned jointly with his brother George and around the same time moved to Great Edstone near Kirkbymoorside with his family and his wife's mother Alice Hansell.

A handwritten church record on aged paper, tilted. The text reads: "Edw^d Snowdon and John Kipling Overseers of the Poor of the Parish of Great Edstone for part of the Years 1832 and 1833".

John and his two sons were active Methodists and the Methodist chapel next to the Kipling's farm in Great Edstone, built in 1823, may have been a contributory factor in his deciding to move. Around the time of the move, Joseph left the family to train for the Methodist ministry.

John senior died in 1835 with son John taking over the farm. Ann Kipling died of heart disease in 1855 and their headstone stands today in Great Edstone churchyard.

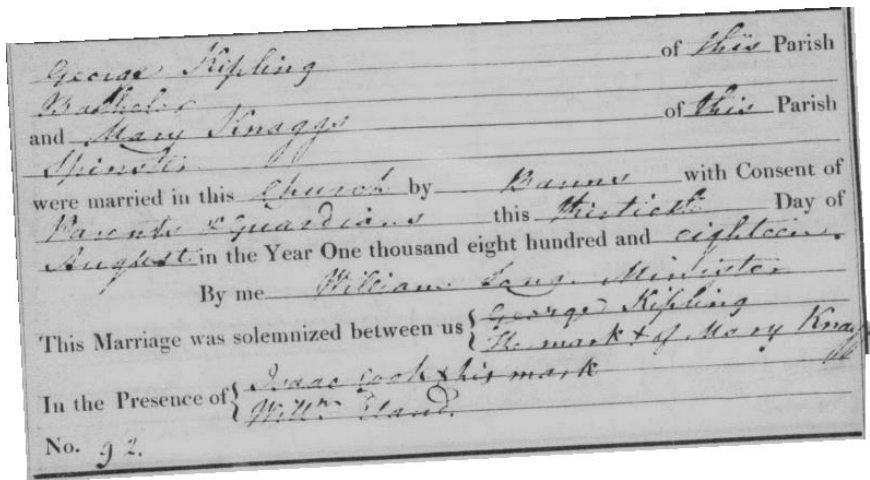

Alice Hansell died in 1836 (recorded aged 92 but actually only 91) but was buried back at Lythe.

Anne married farmer William JACKSON in 1836. They subsequently moved to Fylingdales, where son John Kipling Jackson was born in 1846, and then to Danby Wiske. Anne died in 1848 of “debility from abortion” and her death is recorded on the above headstone although Ann herself is buried at Danby Wiske. Alice married farmer William THOMPSON, remaining in the village until her death in 1884. Bessie married farmer John JACKSON. They subsequently moved near to Middlesbrough, where Bessie died in 1905 in the County Borough Asylum.

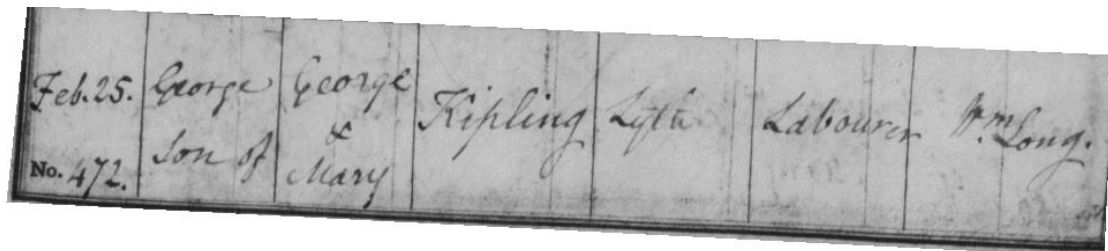

Jane married Leonard RAWLING and moved to Barton-le-Street, dying there in 1891. Jane and Leonard had a son, John Kipling Rawling. He later married his cousin Hannah Kipling, a daughter of the Rev Joseph Kipling, after Hannah was not allowed to go to India to act as housekeeper for brother John Lockwood Kipling, Rudyard’s father.

George and Mary had a son George in 1821 and daughters Anne (1819), Hannah (1823), Ruth (1825) and Mary (1827).

Later they moved to Staintondale, initially as labourers.

Curiously, although George was described as a labourer both in 1827 at Mary's baptism and in the 1841 census, in a property sale at Lythe in 1831 involving his brother John, he is described as a mariner.

Ruth died in 1843.

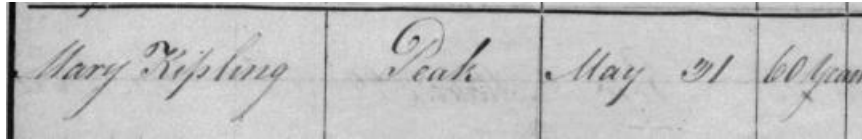

George and his son were alum workers in the 1850s at the Peak alum works near Ravenscar. This closed in 1860 and its ruins are today owned by the National Trust.

The Third Generation

The family of John Kipling (1807)

John married Mary Wood of Fadmoor at Kirby Moorside in 1836.

They had children Ann E (1838), Joseph (1840), Jane (1842), Mary (1844), John (1847) and Margaret (1850).

John was Churchwarden from Lady Day 1841 to Lady Day 1842, Overseer of the Poor in 1852 and held a number of other civic roles. He was also an active Methodist lay preacher. For example, he is mentioned in the 1847-8 plan for the Pickering circuit as preaching at Edstone and at a number of nearby towns and villages on various Sundays.

John was actually the enumerator for Great Edstone.

I CERTIFY and declare that the Account of the Population of the District for which I am Enumerator, contained in this Book, has been truly and faithfully taken by me, and that, to the best of my knowledge and belief, the same is correct.

Witness my hand this Second day of April 1851.

John Kipling Enumerator.

In 1851, as in other years, John was assessed for rates, having the largest farm in the parish. The record shows that he rented from a Mrs Campion.

John's wife, Mary, died in May 1853, of ovarian dropsy (cyst), and his younger son John, aged 6, died later the same year of gastroenteritis.

John married again in 1857, to Mary Garnett, the daughter of small freehold farmer John Garnett. They had a son, William Garnett, in Edstone in later the same year.

John's eldest daughter, Ann, who had married John HODGSON, a journeyman blacksmith, in 1858, died the following year of phthisis (tuberculosis).

John himself appears in parish rate assessments up to and including 1858/9 (18s 6d at 1½d in the pound on £148 rental). The following year, the corresponding assessment was made on a Francis WEETMAN. The family therefore left Edstone in 1859 or early 1860.

In the 1861 census, the Kipling family are to be found at Staxton, about 20 miles east of Edstone, not far from Scarborough. John is farming 205 acres and employing 2 men and two boys. With John at Staxton are daughters Jane, Mary and Margaret.

The motive for the Kiplings' move is unclear, although following Mrs (Jane) Champion's death in 1859, the farm and land were sold to a Mrs SHEPHERD around 1860 (the property is still today known as 'Shepherds Farm') and it is conceivable that the new owner might have sought to impose changes to the terms of John Kipling's tenancy.

Joseph Kipling is not with the family at Staxton in 1861, nor does he appear to be elsewhere in the UK. He is next definitely recorded arriving in Brisbane in Jan 1864 on the "Light of the World", a ship of the Black Line carrying emigrants from the UK to Australia. His death is recorded in Cairns in 1918, where the names of his parents identify him, as does the age of 78 on an inscription in Martyn Street cemetery, Cairns. There is no evidence of a marriage. He's pictured below, around 1880.

With him went his sister Mary (pictured in old age), who married a George WILKINSON in Queensland in March 1864, just six weeks after arriving, and died just 3 months after her brother in 1918. See 'Other Australian Kiplings'.

Of John Kipling's other children, Jane married Watson GLAVES, of Staxton, back in Edstone in 1864. She died in Staxton in 1881. Margaret married David MCLAREN in Scarborough in 1878 and died in 1922 in Staxton.

John and Mary had a further son, Edwin, whilst living at Staxton, but by the time of the birth of their youngest child, Elizabeth Frances, they had moved back to Ugthorpe, to the 85 acre Traveller's Rest Farm on the moor above the village, close to where the A171 runs today.

THE WEATHER.—The hot weather which came in on Saturday has produced a wonderful effect. The heat has been intense, and the effect upon vegetation almost magical. Trees have sprung into leaf, many are covered with blossom, and the meadows have become beautifully green. All nature is rejoicing in the change which has come so suddenly. On Wednesday evening there was a sharp thunderstorm, accompanied with rain. The lightning continued for about two hours, and at times was very vivid. The house of Mr. Kipling, at Barnby Sleights, was struck by lightning about eight o'clock. The family and their medical attendant (Dr. Dodd) were sitting in a room adjoining the passage, when a vivid flash ignited the window frame and curtains in the passage. The whole wood-work above the window, with the blind, &c., was completely destroyed.

DEATH OF ANOTHER NONAGENARIAN.—
 There passed away on Sunday, at Sleights, Mr. John Kipling, who had attained the age of ninety years. Deceased was born at Lythe, which was also the birthplace of his father, who farmed some land in that district. Deceased also commenced his career as a farmer in the Lythe district, and, after several removals, during his long life, to other farms in this and the Scarborough district, finally retired. Mr. Kipling was related to the nation's favourite poet,—Rudyard Kipling; and was very proud of the fact, Rudyard Kipling's father being nephew to deceased. Deceased was a kindly man, abounding in good works and deeds, and was also gifted with considerable poetic ability, poems from his pen having occasionally appeared in this journal. The interment took place at Sleights on Wednesday.

Whitby Gazette - Friday 11 March 1898

The family of Joseph Kipling (1805)

Joseph Kipling joined the Wesleyan ministry in 1831, His first posting was to Wisbeach in Cambridgeshire, followed by Spalding in 1832, Spilsby in 1833-4 and Bangor in 1835. In 1836 he was posted to Pickering, much closer to Great Edstone.

That year he married Francis Lockwood of Skelton, close to the old family home of Lythe.

Whilst at Bridlington, Joseph wrote a letter now in possession of the National Trust

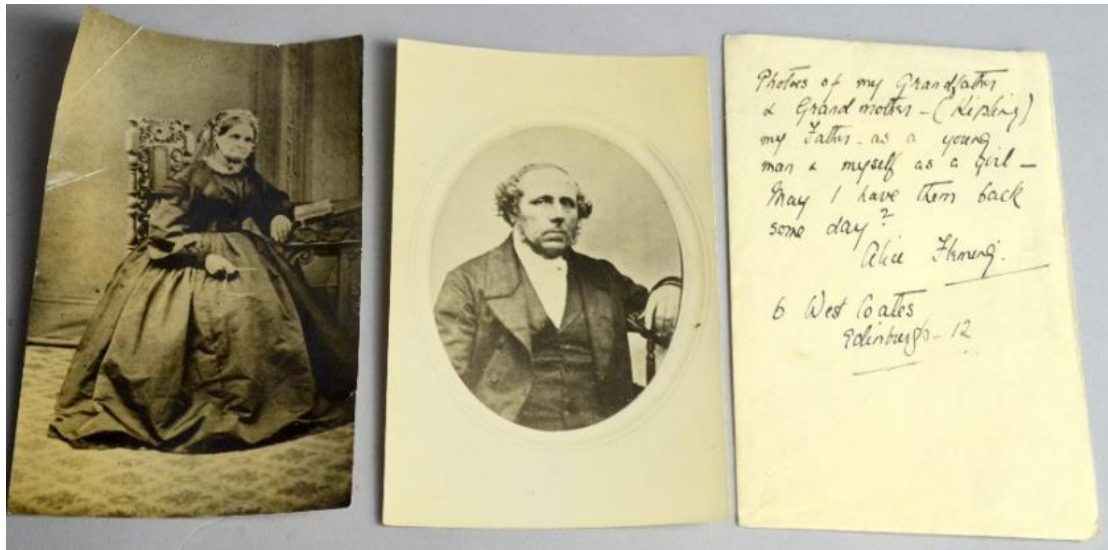

It is unclear to whom the letter is addressed, but it refers to the death by drowning of Thomas, the brother of 'Susan'. I suspect that Susan is actually the Kipling's servant, Susanna Wilkinson, who moved with them from Horncastle. A Thomas Wilkinson did die in Horncastle that year.

Subsequent postings of Joseph included Pocklington, Pateley Bridge, Ulverston and finally Skipton where the family was in 1861.

Daughter Jane Frances never married. Her life had been spent living with various relatives and as a lady's companion.

In 1891 she was living in Wigton, Cumberland with her cousin John Kipling Jackson, the son of William and Ann (nee Kipling) Jackson. Ann was one of the Rev. Joseph's sisters.

In 1911, she was living at Nidd Cottage, Thornton-le-Clay, accompanied by her widowed sister Ruth (#271). It is related that Rudyard Kipling bought the house for them and paid them a pension of 10s a week.¹

GIRL OVERBOARD. — NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.—On Friday a little girl, 7 or 8 years old, daughter of Mr. Kipling, iron worker, Larpool Cottages, had a narrow escape from drowning. She was in a boat, and while in the act of getting out she missed her footing and fell into the river. She, however, managed to seize hold of the side of the boat, but it floated away on the strong ebb tide, dragging her out of her depth. The child held on as long as she could, and then was obliged to release her hold. She was being carried down the river to what appeared to be certain death, being under the water several times. At this juncture Mr. James Hutton, who was proceeding to the Foundry on the other side of the river, saw the occurrence, and he called out for help and ran back to where the Shipyard workmen were ferrying across, and Mr. Kelly at once went to the girl's assistance and brought her to land. The poor little thing was nearly gone. Dr. Dr. Granger was sent for, and on his arrival he found the patient unconscious. The usual restoratives having been briskly and promptly applied, animation was restored.

Whitby Gazette - Friday 23 September 1892

Son John Stephen died in 1917 as a result of nephritis contracted on war service in France (he was in the RAMC). He is named on the war memorial in Whitby churchyard and buried at Larpool cemetery. He had enlisted on the day of his wedding to Florence Fowler in March 1915.

Private John Stephen Kipling, who passed peacefully away at his home in Poplar Row on Friday morning, after a lingering illness, joined the Royal Army Medical Corps on his wedding day, March 8th, 1915. He was twenty-five years of age, and the eldest son of Mr. George Kipling,

Hilton's Yard, Baxtergate. He served with the Medical Corps on the Western Front, and as a result of the strenuous conditions of service, and exposure to cold, contracted a kidney complaint, and was sent to England, receiving treatment at Nottingham Hospital, where he was an inmate four months. He served sixteen months with the Colours, being sent home nine months ago. At the time of joining the Royal Army Medical Corps, he was an assistant with Messrs. R. Jackson & Co., Ltd., outfitters, Bridge Street, Whitby, having served his apprenticeship with the late Mr. H. Duck, draper. He was a sidesman at St. Michael's Church, an officer of the local Lodge of Oddfellows, and was Secretary of the Excelsior Concert Party, whose concerts were held mainly in support of charitable objects.

The funeral of Private Kipling was attended by the Cadet Batteries, who provided the firing party. Several Oddfellows, in their regalia, formed part of the cortège. A very largely-attended service having been previously held at St. Michael's Church, the coffin was reverently borne direct to the graveside, where the final rites were performed.

The following were the chief mourners:— Mrs. J. S. Kipling, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kipling (parents), Sapper G. Kipling, R.E. (brother), Sister Mary Anne, S.O.C.E. (sister), Mr. R. H. Ladley (brother-in-law), Mr. and Mrs. J. Burnley (sister and brother-in-law), Miss E. Kipling (sister), Masters Harold and Will Kipling (nephews), Mr. G. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. W. Booth, Miss Kipling, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. D. Kipling, Mrs. Giddins, Mr. and Mrs. E. Giddins, Mr. and Mrs. T. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fowler, Sgt. and Mrs. C. Fowler, Miss A. and Mr. H. Fowler, Mrs. Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mrs. W. Ross, Mrs. W. Gardner, Mrs. G. Cummins, Mr. H. Ross (Doncaster), Miss Lowther, and Mrs. W. A. Clark.

A large number of beautiful floral tokens included those from: Mrs. J. S. Kipling, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kipling and family, "Lodge of Oddfellows," Major and Mrs. R. K. Jackson, "Lily, Meggie, and Harry," "Uncle George and Aunt Annie and Family," "Aunt Sallie and Uncle Tom," "Aunt Jenny and Aunt Bell," "Aunt Julia and Uncle Will," "Aunt Maggie," "Aunt Emily, Ernest, and Becca," Dr. and Mrs. G. Whitby Gazette - Friday 15 June 1917

George Henry died in 1935.

Son George served in the Royal Engineers in WW1.

Sapper George Kipling, R.E., son of Mr. G. H. Kipling, Baxtergate, arrived home on fourteen days' leave on Saturday morning after fourteen months in France. He has been two years in the Army. At the time of his enlistment he was in the employ of Mr. G. C. Booth, plumber and electrician, Silver Street.

Whitby Gazette - Friday 01 November 1918

He married Emma Jane Hill in 1924 and they had daughters Esther (1924) and Emma (1929). George died at Whitby in 1958.

PILLION RIDER'S CLAIM.
Sequel to Boxing Day Motor Cycle Smash.
The hearing of a claim for £357 damages for the loss of a leg as the result of a motor-cycle collision on Boxing Day, 1928, was commenced and adjourned until Monday, in the Civil Court at the West Riding Assizes at Leeds yesterday. Plaintiff was William Kipling, of Whitby, a former captain of the Whitby Albion Rangers F.C., and defendant Herbert Stock, of Tempest Road, Leeds. For the plaintiff it was stated that he was riding pillion on a friend's motor cycle to a football match at Eston, Middlesbrough, when, it was alleged, defendant came round a bend in the Staithes-Eston road on his wrong side and crashed into the other cycle. Kipling was taken to hospital, and his left leg was amputated above the knee. The defence is that the accident was due to the negligence of the driver of the other motor cycle, William Musgrave, of Port Mulgrave, Hinderwell, it being alleged that he, in a scurry of sleet, came on with his head down, and in attempting to get round the other cycle caught the rear-side front wheel.

Yorkshire Post and Leeds Intelligencer - Saturday 22 March 1930

£1,107 DAMAGES.

Footballer's Leg Lost in Motor Smash.

Damages of £1,107 and costs against Herbert Stock, of Tempest Road, Beeston Hill, Leeds, were awarded by the jury at Leeds Assizes to-day to William Kipling, of Baxtergate, Whitby, in respect of injuries received in an accident.

Kipling, a former captain of a Whitby football team, lost his left leg, and suffered from post-operative heart. He claimed that he had been made unfit for his work as a skilled electrician.

The damages included £357 special damages for loss of wages and medical treatment.

Yorkshire Evening Post - Monday 24 March 1930

William married Jane Musgrave in 1931. A son William was born in 1932 but Jane died in 1934 aged only 25.

WHITBY WOMAN'S DEATH

An inquest was opened and adjourned by Mr. H. P. Barugh, Coroner for the Guisborough Division, yesterday, on Mrs. Kipling, wife of Mr. William Kipling, radio service engineer, of "Lorton," Uppang Road, Whitby, who died while visiting the home of her mother at The Bungalows, Port Mulgrave, Hinderwell. Mrs. Kipling had arranged for the extraction of some teeth on Thursday evening, and while being prepared for the operation collapsed and died.

Yorkshire Post and Leeds Intelligencer - Saturday 25 August 1934

Inquest on Whitby Woman

The adjourned inquest on Mrs. Jane Kipling, wife of Mr. William Kipling, radio service engineer, Uppang Road, Whitby, who died while on a visit to her mother at Hinderwell on Thursday, was held yesterday.

Mrs. Kipling was being prepared for the extraction of some teeth by her doctor and dentist, and collapsed and died as the anaesthetic was being administered.

Dr. A. J. Somerville gave medical evidence, and the Coroner returned a verdict of "death due to misadventure."

Yorkshire Post and Leeds Intelligencer - Thursday 30 August 1934

William (or Bill) senior lived in Whitby until his death in 1973.

Winged Victory MR. WILLIAM KIPLING, a Whitby sportsman, won a game at darts by throwing only one arrow. While he was playing Mr T H. Brown, a fellow member of Whitby Golf Club, a fly started crawling across the board.

"If you can hit that fly, I'll give you the game," said Mr Brown.

"Right," replied Mr Kipling and without a pause he swung his arm and shot an arrow, which impaled the fly on the board.

Bill Kipling used to be a well-known footballer in the district until a motoring accident resulted in the amputation of his left leg. Since then he has had to be content with billiards, snooker, darts and golf.

Yorkshire Evening Post - Wednesday 26 March 1952

Mr. J. B. Kipling

A Leeds link with Rudyard Kipling has been broken this week by the death of Mr. Joseph Boyes Kipling, Hill View Avenue, Chapel Allerton, a cousin of the poet. He was 83.

Mr. Joseph Kipling's father and Rudyard Kipling's father were brothers, sons of the Rev. Joseph Kipling, a Wesleyan minister in Skipton about 1860.

A native of Malton and a member of the Pharmaceutical Society, Mr. Kipling was for more than 30 years manager of Reinhardt's, chemists, formerly of Queen Victoria Street and York Road, Leeds. He leaves a widow, three sons and one daughter.

Miss Rita Johanna Preller, a German girl who escaped from Plauen, in the Eastern Zone of Germany, early in 1946, is to marry Mr. Stewart Kipling, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kipling, of Hill View Avenue, Leeds, in June, she told "The Yorkshire Post" last night. The wedding will take place in Leeds. Mr. Kipling is a B.A. of Leeds University.

Miss Preller is at present an auxiliary nurse at the National Heart Hospital, Westmorland Street, London. Her fiancé is a medical representative for an industrial pharmaceutical organisation.

"A rather risky journey," was all that Miss Preller would say about her crossing into the Western Zone. She travelled alone. She then went to live with an English family in Hamburg and came to England in 1948.

When she met Mr. Kipling in London six months ago it was a case of "love at first sight," she said. Very interested in art and literature, Miss Preller is particularly proud of the fact that her husband is a kinsman of Rudyard Kipling. His father is a first cousin of the author and poet.

Originally, Miss Preller had intended to become a sculptor, but her studies were interrupted by the war. After her marriage she hopes to attend an art school to study dress designing.

"I have been very happy in England," she said, "and everybody has been very kind to me. Working in a hospital, one meets all kinds of people, and I have never met a nasty Englishman—I don't believe one exists."

1951 cycling programme

The Yorkshire Cycling Federation decided on a 1951 programme comprising five open time trials, a five miles track championship, a mass-start race, and a 100 miles in eight hours standard ride, at their annual meeting at Otley yesterday.

Mr. J. S. Kipling, Leeds member of the Yorkshire Century R.C., was elected president. Mr. Kipling, an active racing cyclist until recent years, is hon. secretary of the Yorkshire District of the Road Time Trials Council.

New secretary for Time Trials council

The Yorkshire District Council of the Road Time Trials Council meeting at Collingham yesterday elected a new honorary secretary in Mr. G. Hobbs (Leeds University Cycling Club). He takes the office vacated by a Leeds man, Mr. J. S. Kipling, who held it for five years. Mr. N. Ward, who represents the Heavy Woollen Cycling Combine on the Council, was re-elected chairman.

A proposal from the Yorkshire Cycling Federation to change the rule which bars amateurs and professionals competing together and moves by the Heavy Woollen Cycling Combine to change the clothing regulations and to remove the ban on advance publicity for time-trials were defeated.
