

The Jettens of Iping

William Jetin married Elizabeth Newman in 1714 at Trotton in Sussex

William John and Elizabeth Norman were married Nov: 17. - 1717.

Deeds exist showing that he, jointly with George Newman (possibly his father-in-law), both husbandmen, rented property in Trotton in 1719 and assigned away the lease in 1760 (see Appendix 1). William's origins are yet to be identified.

Daughter Elizabeth was baptised at Tuxlith (an ancient church at the north end of Trotton parish) in 1718.

Elizabeth daughter of William & Ann Labourne was baptiz'd at Freshfield October 22 1718.

Sons William, John and Thomas followed (a full family tree can be found in Appendix 2).

In his diary, the rector of Headley writes disparagingly of Thomas around this time:

Note written across the bottom of pages 222 & 223.

Oct 6, 1880. Dear Mr WICKHAM, an old man named WINTER has a stepson called JETTON, a worthless fellow, who endeavours to live upon the old people. JETTON's wife is about to be confined and, a week ago, went to the Union. Last night however she and JETTON reappeared at the old man's cottage, and at present are in his outhouse and refuse to turn out. It is a very unfit place to live in (much more to be confined in). Is there any summary method by which the JETTONs can be ejected? The old man's cottage itself has no room for them. Yours sincerely W H Laverty.

He then gives some background on both Thomas and the Harrises (who for some reason are also referred to as Daniel Winter and Betty Longstocking)

See p.456 for an assault on John JETTON.

- Maria PICKETT 18/2/1881 - private baptism. Another baptised at Farnham April 1883.

She ran away Mich 1888 with only remaining child. He July 1889 broke blood vessel having previously tramped the country (as far as Cardiff) to try and find her.

In fact, the assault referred to above was by John, as the rector's diary goes on to show.

Press Cutting, undated - MALICIOUS WOUNDING

John JETTON (28) labourer, was indicted for maliciously wounding Gilbert GREGORY, at Binsted, near Alton on the 23rd of September. Mr Greenwood prosecuted.

Prosecutor said he was a labouring man, hopping at Binsted in September. On Sunday, the 23rd at 10.30pm he was with Hezekiah FRANKLIN. At the cross road leading to Kingsley he met prisoner and his brother, who were strangers to him. Prisoner told him he had more sovereigns than witness had shillings, and he replied that he had enough for himself and missus. Prisoner thereupon hit him on the nose with the right hand and stabbed him on the left shoulder with a knife. Prisoner's brother went off before he was stabbed. After stabbing him prisoner ran away round the corner, telling him if he would come up the road he would stick him in the throat. By prisoner: they did not come along the road from Binsted together. By his Lordship: He had a few words with prisoner's brother. Prisoner was a stranger to him.

Hezekiah FRANKLIN, of Frome, Somerset, said he was a hopper and in company with the prosecutor on the night in question. He saw by the moonlight the knife used. He had never seen prisoner before Sunday. His lordship referring to the depositions said he found witness stated he saw prisoner at the Cedars the Sunday previous to the assault, and at the kiln on the same day. Witness denied that he said so. By prisoner: They did not stand talking at the cross roads for a quarter of an hour.

Arthur PRAGNELL, basket maker, of Tadley, said he slept at the kiln about 70 yards from the cross roads when he was aroused by hearing Gregory called that he was stabbed, and a voice "If you'll come up here I'll stab you again".

Henry PONTING, living at South Hay, said he heard prosecutor callout that he was stabbed, and ran to his assistance and on his pulling off his coat prisoner ran away.

P.C. BUDDEN apprehended prisoner on the following Tuesday who said "they can't say it's me as I ran away and so did my brother." He found a knife upon prisoner there was no blood upon it.

Dr J F WRIGHT said he found a wound on the back of prosecutor's left shoulder, two inches in extent. It was quite impossible for the wound to have been inflicted on prosecutor by a person standing in front of him with his left hand.

For the defence Thomas JETTON brother of prisoner was called and said, that up to the time he and his brother went away together no blow whatever was struck. By Mr GREENWOOD: His brother came away from prosecutor.....

John was again in trouble with the law in 1885.

Cutting Dec 1885: John JETTON, of Binsted, was charged with trespassing on land at Binsted, in the possession of Henry DUTTON, Esq. James SPIERS, game-keeper, deposed to seeing the defendant on December 8th in the act of setting and examining rabbit wires. The defendant said he had permission from Mr NEWMAN to take rabbits. There were seven wires set. The defendant denied having se the wires, and also having picked up any. It appeared that the defendant was of no occupation, and he lived close by the spot. The Bench, in the absence of any proof that the defendant had authority to tae rabbits, fined him 2s. 6d. and 10s. Costs, four days being allowed by payment; and, in default, seven days' imprisonment.

THE RIOTING AT NORTH WOOLWICH.

At the Stratford Petty Sessions Charles Johnson, twenty, Oscar Estrum, twenty-seven, Louis Jansen, thirty-three, and Otto Henser, twenty-five, seamen of the ss. Cassius, now lying at the Royal Albert Docks, were brought up on remand charged with assaulting Police-constable 606K (John Jetten), in Albert-road, North Woolwich, on the 28th ult. Henser was further charged with being drunk at the same time and place. Jacob Cordes, a Swede, was also charged with assaulting Police-constable Jetten. It will be remembered that about nine o'clock on Sunday week the prisoner Cordes, who was intoxicated, was creating a disturbance in the Albert-road, North Woolwich, and was taken into custody by Police-constable Jetten. The remainder of the prisoners, who were all under the influence of drink, immediately rescued him and then set upon the constable, got him down, and kicked him. Sergeant Smitharam came up at the time, and stones were thrown at him. A general riot followed, and Cordes was seen to assault Police-constable Jetten, whilst the other prisoners conducted themselves in a disgraceful manner. In the fray Estrum's skull was split open, which he alleged was done by a constable with his staff. This the police denied, and said it was done from a stone thrown by one of the prisoners. The prisoners were each committed for fourteen days, in default of paying a fine of 20s. and costs.

WEST HAM.

James Macdonald, 47, of Sarah-street, Canning-town, was charged with being drunk, and with breaking a pane of glass, the property of Alfred Garrard.—Police-constable Jetten said that on the previous morning he was on duty in Rathbone-street, when his attention was called to the prisoner by a Mr. Garrard, who said the prisoner had fallen through his window. He was very drunk, and as he refused to give his name and address, he was taken into custody.—Mr. Garrard, 73, Rathbone-street, Canning-town, said that about nine o'clock he was serving a customer, when the prisoner rolled through the window of the shop, doing damage to the amount of 10s. He was very drunk.—Prisoner, who said he remembered nothing about it, and promised to recompense the prosecutor, was discharged, Mr. Phillips saying he thought it was but an accident.

Morning Post - Wednesday 02 January 1884

WEST HAM.—CHARGE OF SETTING FIRE TO A RAILWAY TRUCK.—Joseph Selby, 10, school boy, whose head could not be seen above the dock, was charged with feloniously and maliciously setting fire to a railway truck, the property of the Great Eastern Railway Company, at Clyde Wharf, Silvertown, and doing damage to the amount of £1., on the 13th inst.—William Schafer, a lad of 12 years of age, said that on Saturday morning last, at about half-past five, he was at Clyde Wharf, when he saw the prisoner there with a lighted tarry rope. He set light to a quantity of paper beneath a railway truck, and when witnesses put that out the prisoner set fire to another lot. The lad Schafer then left the truck, saying, "I'll have nothing to do with it," when the prisoner ran after him and said, "Don't tell, and I'll give you a penny." Witness walked away, and shortly afterwards the prisoner ran after and said, "What's up, Schafer?" Witness replied "You know what's up," and, looking back, they saw the railway truck on fire. Both then went towards the truck and saw the fire put out, but when Selby saw a policeman he ran away.—Charles Maxey deposed to seeing the truck on fire, and Selby running away from it with some loose matches in his hand, and another lad said that he saw the prisoner after the fire and asked if he had been to it, when Selby answered "Don't say anything."—Police-constable Jetton, 606 K, said that when he arrested the prisoner and charged him prisoner said "It was not me, it was the boy Schafer."—Mr. Phillips said it was a charge of a serious nature, so he should remand the prisoner to the workhouse for a week. All this came of not sending the lads to school, but letting them run about the streets.

FIRE AT CAMBERWELL.

EXCITING SCENE.

A fire occurred early on Tuesday morning which destroyed Messrs. Rawlings's Mineral Water Factory at Camberwell. The stables, comprised in two very long buildings, were situated at the rear of the factory, and efforts were at once made to get out the large number of horses kept there. The animals had already commenced to neigh and kick as a result of the smoke blowing into their stables, when several ostlers and coachmen and Sergeants Wyatt, Jetten, and a number of constables went to their assistance. Three or four of the horses were first led out of their stalls, and the work of letting loose the others was then proceeded with. So expeditiously was this carried out, that in less than ten minutes 120 horses had been turned into Neate-street, having followed each other out into Long-lane. Finding themselves suddenly set at liberty, however, the horses quickly ran wild, and galloped down the road. Just then the manual fire engine and escape from the Old Kent-road turned out of Albany-row into Neate-street, and an exciting scene ensued. The large crowd of horses charged down on the engine, which was going at full speed, and the fireman experienced considerable difficulty in driving through their ranks to the scene of the fire. The approach of the horses had been seen at White's mineral water manufactory in the same thoroughfare, and a number of men turned them into the large yard, where they were all safely secured. Steam fire engines were promptly on the scene, and, assisted by a good supply of water, the flames were confined to the building in which they originated, but this was burned out.

Death of
Mr. C. F. Jetten,
Of the Argus

MR. CECIL FREDERICK JETTEN, news editor of the Cape Argus for many years, died yesterday morning after a serious illness. He was 59.

"Jet", as he was known to his friends and colleagues, was one of the outstanding personalities in South African journalism.

He joined the Argus about 34 years ago when he came to South Africa from England. Before coming to the Union Mr. Jetten worked on a newspaper in Croydon.

For many years he was on the parliamentary staff of the Argus and was a well-known figure in the Press Gallery. Later he reported in the Cape Town Supreme Court where he will be remembered by many judges and advocates. He was also motor editor for some time.

About 14 years ago he was appointed news editor—the post he held until his death. For several years Mr. Jetten had been in indifferent health but did not stop work until about a fortnight ago.

He helped to train many men who have made their mark in Union journalism. His keen sense of news and his "drive" secured many scoops for his newspaper.

Mr. Jetten was a past chairman of the Cape Town branch of the South African Society of Journalists.

He is survived by his widow and family.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon. After a service at Wasserfall and Hardick's Funeral Parlour, Dorp-street, at 3.30 p.m., the cortege will leave for Plumstead Cemetery.

Following his father's death, Jack placed the advertisement below in a Croydon newspaper.

Mr. JACK LONDON JETTEN (P.O. Box 4941, Johannesburg), whose father was attached to "some Croydon paper" in 1912, and who immediately after his marriage to Miss Florence Bedeil left for South Africa, is anxious to trace any surviving relatives in England. Both parents are dead, and the inquirer and his sister write as being "utterly alone" in having no relatives in South Africa.

Jack received a reply from his uncle Henry Jetten and a correspondence ensued, setting out details of Cecil's life at the Cape and also some of Henry's in Croydon.
