

In 1622, the manor court fined John 3s 4d twice; seemingly for keeping tenants and for carrying away wood intended for hedges.

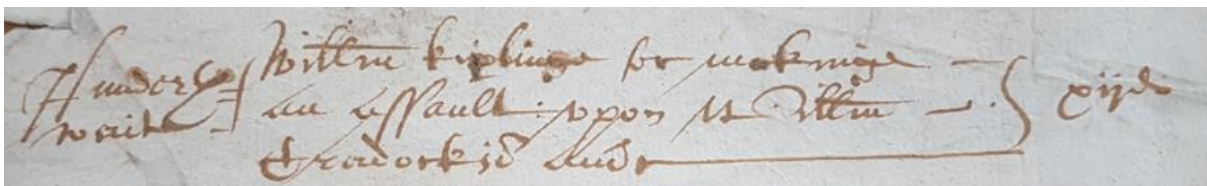

Also in 1622, the baptism was recorded at Brough of “Isabell, daughter of John Kipling of Baldersdale, bast: of the which Lionell Kipling his son and Arthur Steadman and Thomas Salkend give surtie...”.

He was clearly fertile well into old age, as a son Henry was probably born (and was certainly baptised) in May 1625, presumably to wife Margaret (although whether she was his only wife is not known).

Margaret died in 1625 (February, nine months after the birth of son Henry) and John in June 1628. Newhouses passed in August to William.

Generation 2

William was probably the man fined for assault at the sheriff’s tourn in 1616.

He inherited the Newhouses tenancy in 1628 but died later the same year and Newhouses passed in October to his son, John¹. It is possible that his wife, Agnes, had died in 1612.

John farmed at East Louphouse. He had three daughters: Frances (b Brough 1609; m Michael Hodgson of Brough 1629), Jane (1613, m John Burrie of Cotherstone 1637) and Margaret (m. William Colling of Arkengarthdale 1637). Wife Elizabeth died in 1642 and was “buried in y^e alley beside y^e font” at St Romalds (there is no record of their marriage).

John died in December 1652.

¹ According to The Kipling Pedigree by Edgar Powell. There is no record of William’s burial at RK, though (nor, indeed, of his son, John’s, baptism).

He left legacies to sons-in-law William Colling and John Burrie, brothers Charles, Henry and Lionel, sister Frances Horne (and Anne Horne, probably Frances's daughter), grandchild Michael Hodgson and nephew John Kipling (presumably the son of William).

Charles was either the man born c1617 educated at Sedbergh School and Cambridge University, or the yeoman born c 1583 who later lived at Bowes (see "The Kiplings of Bowes"). This needs to be resolved.

Kiplinge, Charles, son of John Kiplinge, of Baldersdaile, Richmondshire; born at Baldersdaile.
Entered St. John's Coll., Cambridge, in 1635, age 18.

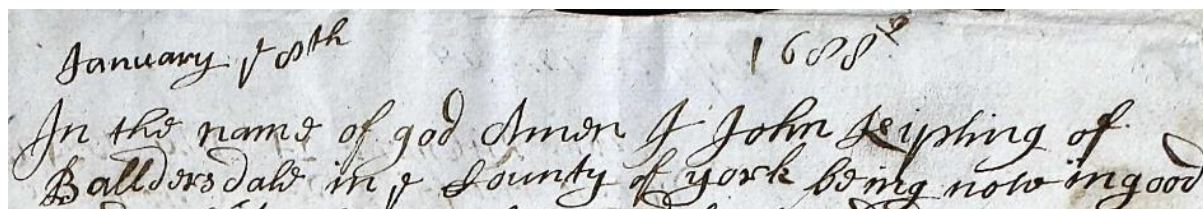

Sedbergh School records

Lionel and Henry lived at Middleton-in Teesdale (see "The Kiplings of Middleton").

Generation 3

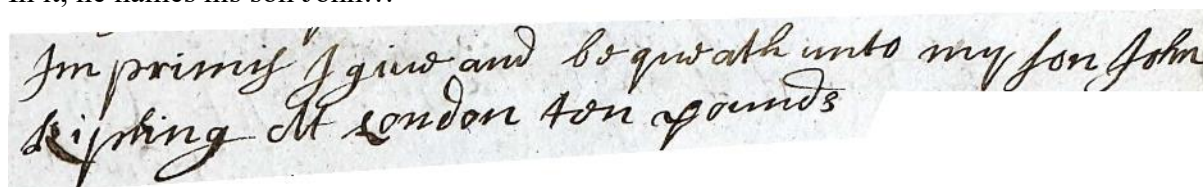

John had children Jane (1634; d 1635), William (1635), Grace (1637-61), Charles (1639), John (1642), Richard (1644, "baptised at Scoonbank"²) and Helen (1646).

John died in 1688 and widow Eleanor/Hellen in 1698. John left a will:

January 7th 1688th
In the name of god Amen I John Kipling of Baldersdaile in the County of York being now in good

In it, he names his son John...

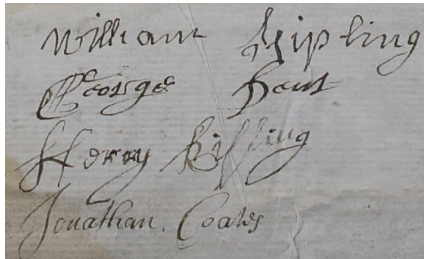

In primis I give and bequeath unto my son John Kipling of London ten pounds

... son Richard's four children (Richard had died in 1681), son William's four children and daughter Mary's two children, Ralf and Mary (she was the wife of Christopher Parkin, the son of Ralf Parkin). The residue of the estate is shared between Christopher and Mary and widow Elinor. There is no reference to daughter Hellen nor to son Charles.

² The register later records "Plague in 1644"

William married Isabell Dowthwaite in 1660 at RK. A son, John may have been baptised later that year (transcribed as burial however). Other children included Charles (1662), Hellinor (1664, Dalehead), William (1666 Birk Hatt), Richard (1670) and Jane (1675).

In 1692/3, William and a Henry Kipling³ appraised the estate of George Dent of Baldersdale. Note the similarity of William's signature to those above and below.

William died in 1718. From his will we know also of children John (eldest son), Hester and Mary. His inventory totalled £120.

His will, written in his own hand, contains a concise list of legacies:

³ Henry was probably William's brother Richard's son, see below.

Item I give and bequeath to Charles Kipling five pounds
It I give to Hester Kipling my daughter ten pounds
It I give to Charles John and George my grand sons three pounds
It I give to Margaret Kipling my grand daughter one pound
It I give to my son Richard Kipling my son twenty pound
It I give to Ellin Kipling my grand daughter five pound
It I give to Isabell Parbin my grand daughter five pound
It I give to Ralph Parbin of Newark — five shillings
It I give Christopher Parbin my grand son five shillings
It I give to my son John Kipling sons and daughters each of them five shilling
It I give to my daughter Mary Kipling fifty pound to dispose of as she shall think good at her death and four pound every year for her table and twenty shillings at Whitsonday and twenty shilling at Martinmas during her life
It I give to my daughter Mary Kipling and Ellin Kipling my grand daughter all my household stuff to be divided between them
It I give to the poor of this Township forty shillings.

William Kipling

Grandsons Charles, John, and George were the sons of son Charles (gunmaker of London). Margaret and Ellin may be the children of son John (see below) although if so it is a little odd that he also gives them (and their siblings) a smaller legacy of 5/- each.

Generation 5

William's children

John married Elizabeth Dent in September 1695. Their children were Margaret (1695, November), Elizabeth (1696-1700), Hellen (1698, DH), William (1701 DH), John (1703), Sarah (1705), Charles (1707), Isabell (1710), Robert (1713), Richard (1716 DH) and Elizabeth (1718 DH).

Having taken on the tenancy of Newhouses in 1718, John died in 1720 and the manor court that year noted the passing of the tenancy of both Newhouses and Birk Hatt to his son William.

Iam no find John Kipling deceased and William Kipling his son, heir to ye Archonts yearly rents of town, shilings at New houses & likewise heir to ye Birk hatt of ye Archonts yearly rents of ~~ye Archont~~ of sixteen shilings & Eight pence

The same court noted that John had sold the tenancy rights at Dalehead (presumably he had farmed there until the death of his father in 1718).

Intype no find John Deyling & his wife Elizabeth hath alienated her Estate all Vall Road of yr descent yearly Rent of nintone shilings & four pence to William Dodgson, yr younger & hath paid his fine to yr Lord or his Balif for yr Land

A door lintel at Newhouses bears William's initials and the date 1722. Possibly the farmhouse was rebuilt or altered then.

John's widow Elizabeth died in 1747.

Charles was apprenticed to a London gunsmith and, later, his younger brother Richard was apprenticed to him.

Hellinor/Elliner may have married James Hutchinson in 1684.

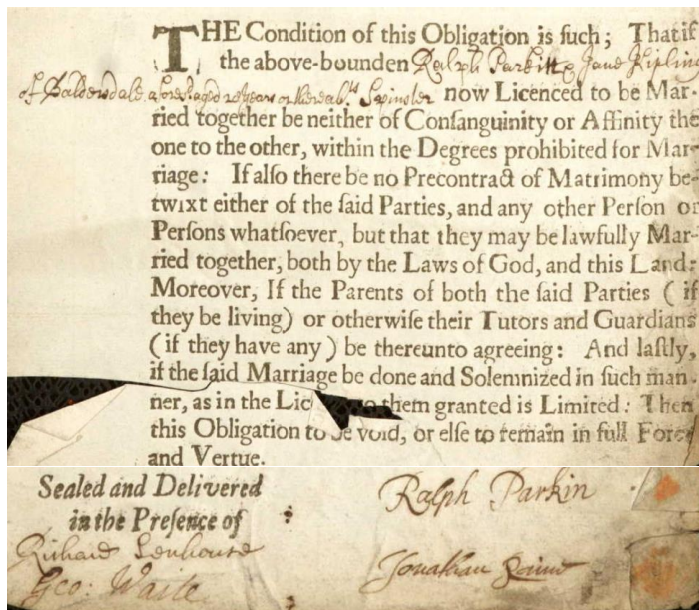

Mary died a spinster in 1728.

William probably also went to London (q.v.) where he was an attorney's clerk at Grey's Inn.

Jane married Ralph Parkin, probably her cousin, at Bowes in 1717.

Richard's children

Sons John and William went to London (see “Newhouses Kiplings in London”).

Third son Henry was probably the Henry Kipling “of Newhouses, Schoolmas^t” who died in 1696.

Daughter Ellen/Ellinor married Anthony Sowerby in 1705. A son Anthony was born in in 1724. They had at least 7 other children, all girls. Ellinor died in 1745. Son Anthony became a coachbuilder in London (see “Newhouses Kiplings in London”).

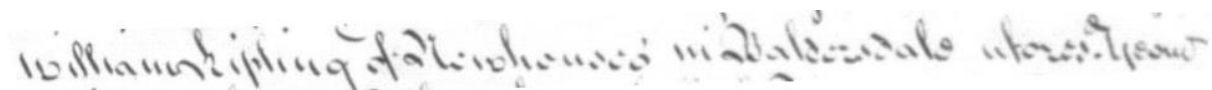

Generation 6

John's children

Charles died in 1721.

William married Elizabeth Cradock in 1725. Their children were William (1729 Low Birkhat), Mary (1731 LB), Charles (1735 LB) and Hannah (1739 NH). It seems that Newhouses remained occupied by Elizabeth until sometime after 1735 with William farming at Low Birk Hat instead.

In 1742, he witnessed a deed for the sale of nearby West Newhouses farm from William Cradock to John Penrith.

NR Deeds Registry J 305 346

Wife Elizabeth died in 1785 (“buried in the church”) and William in 1794.⁴ He is commemorated in this plaque in St Romald’s church, which also refers to the following three generations.

John was almost certainly apprenticed to a London coachmaker in 1719, when he would have been 18. See ‘Newhouses Kiplings in London’.

3 Geo: Brington City Coachmaker — Son of Kipling of Rumbold Kirk, York 19th Dec

It is not known what happened to him subsequently nor what became of Robert and Richard.

Generation 7

William’s children

⁴ Was he the William Kipling, widower, who married a Mary Bainbridge in 1791?

It is not known what happened to older son William.

Charles married Elizabeth Lee in 1775 (D&VM). They had children baptised at RK Hannah (1777), William (1779), Robert (1781, d 1781), Betty (1784) and Charles (1788). Also oldest son John (c1775)⁵.

The cutting below may refer to him.

TO BE SOLD,
By PUBLIC AUCTION,

At the House of Mr. HARRISON, the King's Head Inn, in Barnard-Castle, in the County of Durham, on the 9th Day of September, 1818, at FOUR o'Clock in the Afternoon,
Unless previously disposed of by Private Contract, of which due Notice will be given,)

THE following valuable ESTATES, situate in the Township of Hunderthwaite, and Parish of Romaldkirk, in the North-Riding of the County of York (together, or in the following Lots);

LOT III.

A FARM of LAND, situate in Baldersdale, and containing 51A. 2R. 28P. or thereabouts, occupied by Charles Kipling.

The Premises are of Freehold Tenure, are well watered and fenced, and the Land-Tax has been redem-ed.

Lot 3d and 4th are very desirable for Farmers wishing to keep a large Moor Stock, as they adjoin the Common of Hunderthwaite, on which they have an unlimited Right, and the same Rights are also attached to the other Lots. A small Tithe Farm Rent is paid in lieu of all prædial Tithes to the Rector of Romaldkirk, and the Poores' Rates are remarkably low.

There are now growing upon these Estates a very large Quantity of Oak and other Timber of considerable size, well adapted to Ship-Building and other purposes, and which the Purchasers may have at a valuation. Lime and Coals are upon or in the immediate Neighbourhood of the Estates; and the Roads are remarkably good.

The Neighbourhood is good, and most desirable for a Gentleman attached to Field Sports, as the Moors are near, and the Earl of Darlington's Foxhounds and also a Pack of Harriers are kept at a short distance.

The Tenants will show their respective Premises; and further Particulars may be had on application to Mr. SAYL, Solicitor, Carlisle; or to Mr. WHELDON, Solicitor, Barnard-Castle, where Plans of the Estates may be seen.

BARNARD-CASTLE, June 19, 1818.

York Herald - Saturday 27 June 1818

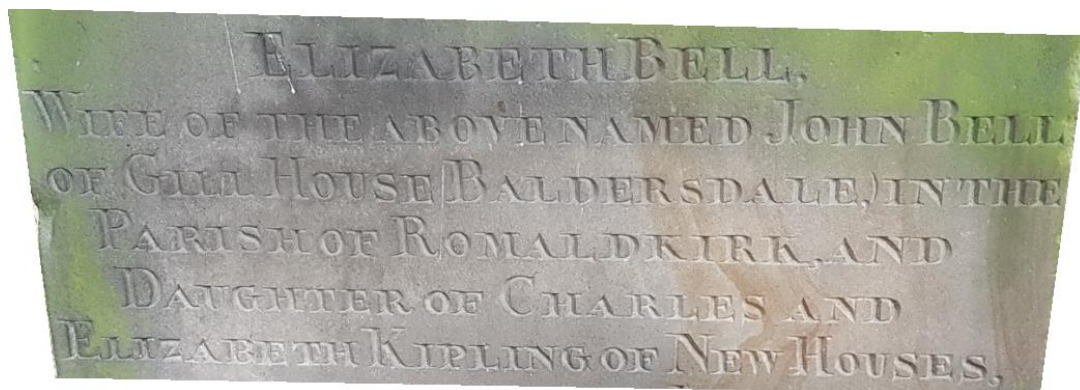

⁵ John died age 80 in 1855. Also, D&VM give a date of 8/10/1775 but not a location.

Charles's wife Elizabeth died in 1801 and Charles himself in 1819. They are commemorated in the Kipling family memorial plaque in St Romald's church (see above).

The story of Charles's sons continues in ('Newhouses 1911' <http://genealogy.kipling.me.uk/Newhouses%201911.pdf>)

Their daughter Betty (Elizabeth) married John Bell and is commemorated in St Romald's churchyard.
